Decathalon To Highlight Activities

Homecoming activities will feature intra-collegiate games, with mass competition, trophies and fun for all during the week Oct. 21-Nov. 6, according to James Crapo, chairman of the Homecoming Special Events Committee.

The theme for this year's Homecoming is, "It's a Cougar World." Highlighting the events will be a decathalon, in which each organization can enter competitors in all ten offered events.

ENTRY BLANKS

Entry blanks for the events will be available today and Wednesday in the step-down lounge of the Wilkinson Center.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of the ten events, and the group with the most points in the decathalon will win a grand prize supremacy trophy. The 30-inch trophy will be on display today and Wednesday in the step-down lounge of the Wilkinson Center.

OTHER EVENTS

A new event will be the Gymkhana, a precision driving contest. The event will be open to compacts and sports cars, running according to classes. Trophies will be awarded to winners in each class.

The housing decoration competition event has been expanded to include off-campus units sponsored by campus wards or organizations. Cash prizes will be offered to the winning groups.

Included in the games is the Homecoming float competition. This event will be run by the Homecoming Parade Committee.

DECORATED TURTLES

Decorated turtles in warm-up jackets, with their trainers and cheerleaders will highlight BYU's first annual turtle trot. Turtles will be available by order in 113 Wilkinson Center.

"It's a Cougar World," is the theme to be depicted by the art contest. The posters will be displayed in the Wilkinson Center during Homecoming Week.

A homecoming will be sponsored by the Sophomore class. A preliminary judging will be conducted and the winning groups will perform in the final competition.

INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

The Games Committee will run a chess tournament. Each organization may enter one contestant.

A ping-pong tournament and a bowling contest will test the abilities of representatives of both sexes.

A pentathlon of track and field events will be held, each organization being allowed to submit in each of the events. Girl's organizations may participate by entering fellows in their behalf.

SPECIAL SERVICES

One alternative event will be special services. Any group not participating in the other events can render a service of their choice to BYU.

Candidate Ejected; Decision Upheld

by Crismon Lewis
 Universe Feature Editor

A Freshman Class presidential candidate was ejected from the general election ballot, Monday night, as the ASBYU Assembly upheld the Elections Committee's decision which disqualified Richard J. Gunn from the Thursday-Friday elections.

Gunn, a Provo major in business management, was defended by Attorney General David Thomas in his appeal to the Assembly. The long and heated battle over the committee's decision which was the result of a budget investigation ignited by a letter of complaint, was finally resolved with 9 voting for, 6 against, and 1 abstaining.

GUNN TO APPEAL

Immediately following Gunn's indictment, he told the Daily Universe, "Upon recommendation of Bryce Christensen, Executive Assistant to Student Body President Lynn Southam, I feel an obligation to the people who supported me, to do everything I can." Consequently, the case will be appealed before the Supreme Court today at 2 p.m. in room 445 in the Wilkinson Center.
 Other Freshman Class finalists

Included: Jim Nielson and Steve Studdert, President; Craig Redford and Jeff Swanson, Vice-President; Mary Ellen Hales and Judi Sorenson, Secretary; Cal Asay, David Christensen, Steve Mann, Vinnie Mezzanapo and Len Whipple, Assemblymen.

"I truly feel that there was a breaking of rules and we (Elections Committee) did what the Constitution prescribed," began Gerry Lindman, chairman of the Elections Committee.

"The Elections Committee unanimously decided today that Gunn's budget exceeded the limit," he said, "because Gunn tabulated only the expenses of merchandise used on campaign and not the total amount."

TOTALS OF PROPORTIONS

For instance, if Gunn bought a gallon of paint but used only a quart, Lindman said that he only included the cost of the quart among his expenditures.

Gunn retaliated, "In reality I've exceeded the limit, however, I have only used $28.16 on the campaign itself, therefore breaking no rules."

"Saturday, Gerry told me," continued Gunn, "that tabulating such proportions was illegal and that was the first I had heard of it."

A PRIZE FOR SLOWEST

The theme will be "It's A Cougar World" but even a turtle can have fun.

Suicides Increasing In Colleges

Suicide is the second greatest cause of death among college students.

The fact that there will be 1,000 college and university students who take their own lives this year plus other startling statistics is contained in a recent article in the national student magazine Moderator.

The Moderator article shows that 9,000 other students will attempt suicide and 90,000 more will threaten to take their lives.

It also points out that the suicide rate among college students is 50% higher than that for Americans in general.

These controversial figures were arrived at after a national survey taken by Moderator editor Philip Wendell. Major source material for the survey was from a book Cry For Help by Farberow and Schneidman, which includes a sixty page annotated bibliography on suicide.

"When we started the research, we did not want to believe what we read," Wendell said. "During the summer we undertook an extensive survey of every college. All our study confirmed existing findings."

The article claims that figures on suicide are more shocking than inactivity. It lists an outmoded system of higher education and generally inadequate campus mental health services as two prime causes of the high rate.

"At present, college triggers awareness in students forcing them to a crucial juncture in life. The college responds with subject matter rather than subjects that matter," the article asserts.

Few colleges have adequate psychology and psychiatric help available to students, the survey concluded. "The existing student health mental services are simply inadequate," it said.

The article lists ways that colleges can help distressed students. It advocates giving students more opportunity to formulate and formalize their own education.

The colleges must hire more mental health professionals to cope with the situation, the article adds.

The reason that suicide isn't a problem at BYU is because of the unique system of counseling offered both through campus Bishops and the professional counseling service plus the MacDonald Health Center.

Positive attitudes expressed here also prevent stress. But as Elder Boyd K. Packer pointed out in a recent devotional address, students here are not entirely free-emotional frustrations. They must learn to cope with them.

Students would do well to follow the advice given in his talk, plus one suggestion from the Moderator article.

"People believe that students who talk suicide won't do it. This is false—75% of all suicides have previously threatened it. If you come in contact with another student who is threatening suicide, a competent professional should be consulted as soon as possible."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ON DIVORCE

Dear Editor:

I write in reference to Mr. Hoover's novel editorial, is America Safe for Marriage? Apparently, your wire editor believes that the court system of America, in conjunction with the money-hungry legal profession is responsible in the main, for the awesome, spiraling divorce rate. Furthermore, I am appalled that Mr. Hoover would suggest that the court system be replaced, of all things, by sociologically-oriented "Family Centers".

I certainly agree that the divorce-bound couple can derive many benefits from family counseling. However, it would be ridiculous to assume that, therefore, these counseling "Centers" should be given the legal power to administer the complex technical factors of dissolving a marriage, and determining custody, property, and financial rights of the respective parties. These rights have to be based upon LAW—not upon the arbitrary minds of individual social workers, and psychologists.

Mr. Hoover spoke liberally about these so-called "antiquated" divorce laws which have made divorce so easy. Let me assert here that the fact that a divorce is so easy to obtain is the real reason why the divorce rate is increasing.

But just who does Mr. Hoover think is responsible for these liberal grounds for divorce such as "MENTAL CRUELTY," and "IN-

Introducing two of the most radical changes in Volkswagen history.
Can you spot them?

Did you notice that the headlights are vertical now instead of leaning back a bit? That doesn't make the car look any better. But it makes the road look better by making the lights a little brighter.

And that little hump in the back? We did that to hold the license plate up straight so the police can read it better. Sorry!

What you won't notice without driving the new model are the big improvements.

The engine has been enlarged to a ferocious 53 horsepower. That only adds 3 m.p.h. to the top speed. Because we put most of the additional power where it would make the engine cough a little faster, turn slower and last even longer.

Now that the VW is getting to be such a hot car, we put in a couple of things to slow it down. Dual brakes.

The front wheel brakes are completely independent of the rear wheel brakes. So if you ever lost the front wheel brakes, you could still stop the back of the car. (Which automatically stops the front of the car too.)

The new VW also has seat belts, backup lights and recessed door handles on standard equipment. In fact, this year we made so many changes on the Volkswagen that we thought we'd better make one more.

We wrote "Volkswagen" on the back of the car to be sure everybody would know what it was.

I'm a regular Renoir on the canvas, but on campus I just don't seem to make the scene. There was one campus cutie that used to admire my paintings, but now she's too busy admiring some guy's new Dodge Dart. She says riding in this guy's Dart is like art; every time they go out, they draw a crowd. What can I do? I just have to see this girl again. It's not that I'm in love with her, I haven't finished her portrait yet.

Basketball Workouts Commence

by Gary Wood
Universe Sports Editor

"Go up and get that rebound."
"Okay, let's go into the three-man passing drill."

Basketballs were bouncing again Saturday on the Smith Fieldhouse hardwoods as Coach Stan Watts welcomed twenty-four varsity hopefuls to the first practice of the 1966-67 season.

NINE LETTERMEN

Included among the candidates are nine lettermen from the last year's NIT Championship team that compiled a 20-5 record.

Despite the number of returnees, Coach Watts will have problems of inexperience, as three of his starters on last year's squad have graduated.

The Cougar casaba team will be especially lacking in experience on the guard line, where adequate replacements will have to be found for All American Dick Nemelka and his running mate Jeff Congdon.

KRAMER GONE

Steve Kramer, top rebounder and scorer, will be missing from a forward spot, though Gary Hill and Neil Roberts are back to lend strength up front.

Jim Jimas and Ken James will be counted on heavily to take over the backcourt positions left vacant by Nemelka and Congdon.

Other returning lettermen are forward Bill Ruffner, guard Randy Schostlen, and 6' 11" centers Craig Raymond, Jim Eakins, and Orville Fisher.

GOOD CROP

Joining the group is a former letterman and a fine crop of sophomores.

John Lewis, a member of the 1963 varsity, is trying for a spot after completing an LDS mission.

Some of the outstanding members of last year's record-breaking frothing squad are forward Karl Lilimo, center Scott Warner, forward Marty Lythgoe, and guards John Gabell, Jon Dresser, and Lynn Parsons.

"We'll take our time trimming the group down to working size," said Coach Watts Saturday.
